

epigenomics

Biomarker

Substances that are normally present in small amounts in the blood or other tissues and which can be used to show the presence of certain diseases. A characteristic that is objectively measured and evaluated as an indicator of normal biologic or pathogenic processes or pharmacological responses to a therapeutic intervention.

back